Ex-HEW Leader Lauds UCS At Annual Meeting

Through reorganization steps taken a year ago, United Community Services of San Diego County is in a good position to meet the Nixon Administration's plans for revenue sharing and return of powers and decision making to local communities. "You have taken the big step of seeking to establish a central authority for coordinating your public and private social agencies," said John G. Veneman, former Under Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, the principal speaker at the 53rd Annual Meeting of UCS at the Grant Hotel last week.

"The vast power that has flowed to the Potomac River for so many years is being stopped and reversed," Veneman declared.

"The flow of events is moving money and mandates back to state, counties and cities. What will count in the end," he said, "is not that the money and the power went back to state and local government, but what happened to it when it got there."

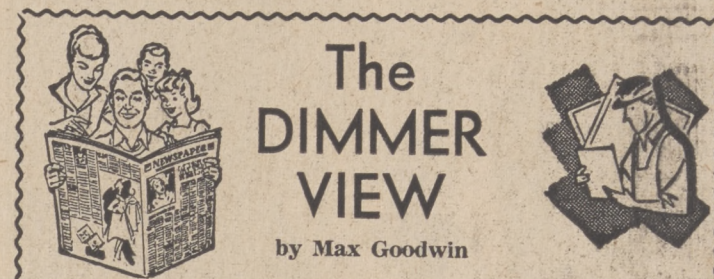

"If that power is used with wisdom, restraint and foresight, it can lead to a renewal of faith in our governing process that future generations of Americans will look back upon with pride and gratitude," Veneman declared. At the meeting, Philip M. Klauber, vice president for customer services, San Diego Gas & Electric Co., was re-elected UCS president. Other officers re-elected for one-year terms were Patterson N. Hyndman and Leonard J. Zanville, vice presidents; Rev. Grandison H. Phelps, Jr., secretary; and Jesse Ramirez, treasurer.

Klauber, who presided at the dinner meeting, presented a citation to Mayor Pete Wilson acknowledging the City of San Diego's "foresight, imagination and courage" in responding to needs of both private and public agencies through the Emergency Employment Act.

Through its Public Employment Program, the city placed more than 200 full-time employees with some 125 voluntary human care agencies, adding nearly $1.9 million in services to those previously available to citizens of San Diego, the citation said.

Some 275 volunteers and agency representatives at the meeting voted to adopt a new name, "United Way of San Diego County" to replace the

Chuckles With Gov. Reagan

Gov. Ronald Reagan was in town last week to lend his prestigious office to the endorsement of the candidacy of Big John Stull.

Stull, recently overwhelmingly re-elected to the State Assembly, is seeking the state Senate seat relinquished by Congressman Clair Burgener. The special election in March 6.

While here, Reagan unveiled his "tax and budget limitation proposal which caused considerable stir."

What didn't make the news columns was the humor of the Governor. He's funny!

Here are some Reaganisms:

Regarding the problems of the executive: "If I was a born worrier, I was born at the right time."

Regarding the Legislature: "I was sitting at home, getting up tight about the whole thing. I decided to call the suicide prevention center (to tell them my problem)."

"They put me on 'hold'."

"They came back in a few minutes and said 'Mr. Reagan, we think you're doing the right thing.'"

Regarding the insistence of an aide who wanted to govern to wear a name identification tag at the Stull dinner.

"I don't take my easy identification for granted anymore."

I was home (Los Angeles) for a few days recently and got a letter calling me up for jury duty.

"The letter said certain people are exempt and one class is public employees. In a space on the other side for claiming exemption I wrote down 'public employee' and sent the letter back."

"A few days later I received a letter which said: 'not all public employees are exempt. Exactly what do you do?'"

Recalling that he may have told the story about the jury duty letter previously, he added:

"When they tell you life begins at 40 they must mean arthritis, lumbago and the tendency to forget you have already told the story."

He was just as cute with his political observations. Referring to his determination to give the $800 million tax excess funds back to taxpayers: "You know what (legislature) claims about that? They call it unnecessary expenditure of public funds!"

After the laughter from that died down, he added: "Just thinking about it gave them the same pain as a three pound chicken laying a four pound egg."

Turning to the national scene Reagan said: "Now that the national election is over, and so is the war, I understand that Massachusetts is demanding a recount!"

And finally, "And all they (Democrats) talk about is the Watergate case. I don't know why they're so upset. You'd think they'd be happy that someone wanted to listen to them."

Oldham, County Personnel Due At L.G.P.A. Meeting

Marijuana And Alcohol Charged In SV Arrests

A 19-year old Spring Valley youth, a 19-year old San Diego youth, and three 17-year old juveniles were arrested in Spring Valley last week on charges of possession of alcohol by a minor and possession of marijuana.

The five suspects were taken into custody last Tuesday evening on Quarry rd. in Spring Valley. David J. Hancock, 19, of Spring Valley, and Milan D. Agnon, 19, of San Diego, were charged with both violations, as were all three juveniles.

Deputies on routine patrol noticed two cars parked near each other in a dark spot on the rarely traveled road and proceeded to contact the suspects.

As deputies neared the area, several of the suspects were observed to throw several items away from the cars, according to reports from the Sheriff's Department.

As the law enforcement officers contacted the suspects, they noted a strong odor of burned marijuana emitting from the suspect vehicles and all suspects were then arrested.

The area was then checked and the following items were found: four cans containing cold beer, one plastic bag containing a greenish vegetable matter later proving to be marijuana, and a partially smoked marijuana cigarette, all found on the ground around the cars.

Inside the vehicles, deputies found marijuana debris, a partially smoked marijuana cigarette, marijuana seeds, two different types of cigarette papers, and a roach clip, a device commonly used to smoke marijuana.

Charburger Stand Robbed

The Charburger drive-through hamburger stand at 7540 Broadway, Lemon Grove was the victim of an armed robbery February 10 when a man armed with a Bowie-type knife escaped with about $175 in cash.

According to Sheriff's Department reports, the suspect grabbed one of the employees of the business late at night when the employee was taking a trash can out of the business.

The suspect threatened to kill the employee if he was not given all of the money. He was given $175 in bills and fled the scene on foot through a vacant lot to the rear of the business.

The suspect was described as a male caucasian, clean shaven with an Afro-type haircut, brown hair, blue eyes, 21 to 23 years old, standing about 6-1 and weighing about 180 pounds.

He wore a green plaid wool jacket and brown corduroy trousers.

Goal Change Grips To Be Aired

A good lively meeting is expected this afternoon when the Lemon Grove Planning Association executive committee gets together at Golden Avenue School at 3 p.m.

On tap will be a presentation by Lemon Grove Sheriff's Substation commander Lt. Barney Oldham, who will talk about law enforcement plans for the area. He will include a question and answer period.

Planners are expected to grill representatives of the county about changes in the group's goals.

Jerry Mann, executive assistant to Supervisor Dick Brown, Clayne Munk, acting head of the county community planning division, and a representative of county council's office have been invited to the meeting.

They are expected to discuss changes in the association's goals as made by county staff and presented to the association at the February 8 meeting.

County staff, which is assigned to the group to help in formulating a community plan, made the changes in the goals and asked the association for approval at the last meeting.

The changes were made to conform to legislation and determination by the board of supervisors that preliminary goals should be oriented toward long range planning rather than regulatory in nature.

After months of work on the goals, many members of the association balked at the changes and asked that county representatives come to this afternoon's meeting to discuss them.

Marijuana And Drug Possession Charged

Learn Spanish The Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

It is not easy to split infinitives in Spanish. As a matter of fact it is just about impossible. Infinitives in Spanish are confined to one word. As you know, in English, we make an infinitive by placing "to" in front of a verb as in "to speak" and "to listen."

Spanish infinitives are distinguished by the verb ending in "ar, er," or "ir" as in "hablar" (to speak), "comer" (to eat), and "escribir" (to write).

We can use any number of infinitives after we have learned some basic phrases like "me gusta" (I like) and "deseo" (I want). We just place the infinitives after these phrases as in "Me gusta hablar" (I like to speak), "Deseo comer" (I want to eat), and "Me gusta escribir." (I like to write).

"Tengo que" is an important expression that is usually followed by an infinitive. "Tengo que" means idiomatically "I have (to)" and may be followed by any number of infinitives. Examples are seen in "Tengo que comer." (I have to eat.), "Tengo que dormir." (I have to sleep), and "Tengo que ir." (I have to go.).

"Desea" may be used to form a question or make a response to a question that is followed by an infinitive. This is demonstrated in the phrases "Desea comer el?" (Does he want to eat?) and "El desea comer?" (He wants to eat.). Other examples are: "Desea trabajar ella?" (Does she want to work?) and "Ella desea trabajar." (She wants to work.).

"Vamos a" means "we are going (to)." This is a good leading expression for placing before infinitives. This is

YMCA Tops Campaign Goal

The Heartland YMCA ended its Sustaining Membership Campaign last week by reaching 110% of its goal, according to Joe Drew, campaign chairman.

The 1973 campaign was the most successful ever according to executive director Ed Gould. Gould attributes the success to the hard work and time that 70 volunteers put in under the direction of Drew.

The top producers of the Heartland Branch were: Lee Lewton, who individually secured $2,270 from 42 contributions. Joe Drew and Ben Polak also produced around $2,000.

This year the honors for the best production for new workers went to Dr. Jon Fremo, a Fletcher Hills Dentist, Lieutenant Bob Newman of the La Mesa Police Department, Charlene La Salle of the Grossmont Center Bank of America, and Alice Hopkins of J. Vianni Real Estate.

Demand For Amnesty Can Split Nation Says VFW Commander Willey

A Lemon Grove man, Dale Willey, has issued a strongly worded statement regarding the Veterans of Foreign Wars policy on amnesty for draft dodgers and deserters.

Willey, who lives at 7146 London lane, is commander-in-chief of the Department of California, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

"Our organization should make its stand known to anyone who asks," said Willey, who heads more than 72,000 California veterans. "We must not be suspected of aligning ourselves with 'bleeding hearts' who demand amnesty for those who refused to serve their country. Flag-burners and anti-war activists have become a divisive force in our country. Some of these forces will be utilized by amnesty seekers," he said.

"Willey, a Lemon Grove Postal Service employee, said, 'Let there be no misunderstanding. VFW is inalterably opposed to blanket amnesty.'

"The law was specific and understandable when draft dodgers elected not to serve their country. That law has not been changed.

"Understandably, some have since realized their mistake and ask forgiveness. But they should ask through the courts.

Many of our laws are unpopular. The war in Vietnam was unpopular. Until the draft law is changed deserters and draft dodgers should face the courts as any other law-breakers. Or in fairness, clear the prisons of all who broke the law because they didn't like it.

"Our joy regarding the cease-fire must not be confused with the beat of the 'bleeding hearts'. It is not known whether they are the same persons who demonstrated, burnt flags and preached anti-war philosophy. But by becoming amnesty activists they can again split our Nation — and at a time when most people have begun to see a growing unity.

"The VFW does not demand cruel or inhuman sanctions against draft dodgers and deserters — just that they face a jury of their peers in court for whatever penalties that may be handed down — penalties that they were aware of when their decision was made to let braver Americans take over their duties."

The policy statement is being published in the VFW's monthly publication, "THE CALIFORNIA VETERAN", Willey said.

Explorer Post Learns Finger Print Lifting

The Lemon Grove Sheriff's Substation-sponsored Explorer Post 2187 met Monday night and participated in several projects, including learning to lift fingerprints from different surfaces.

Deputy Dave Pugh, one of the post's advisors, demonstrated techniques for lifting fingerprints. The explorers lifted prints from desk tops and learned to preserve their findings.

The process entails dusting the area for prints, then use adhesive tape to lift the impressions and transfer them to print cards.

The post members then laid out and printed identification cards which will be used later during a ride-along program that the post has begun.

The ride-along program enables the youngsters, all high school aged boys, to ride with deputies and perform routine functions on patrol.

The post also discussed an independence program in which post members will conduct the regular meetings, phasing out organizational procedures which called for Sheriff's Department personnel to handle much of the workload.

The next meeting will be March 5. High school aged boys interested in law enforcement careers are invited to attend.

Mrs. Don Ward To Head 1973 Walk Program

Mrs. Donald D. Ward has been named to head Project Concern's 1973 Walk For Man-kind, slated for March 24 in the San Diego area.

The announcement was made by C. Robert Cronk, Executive Vice President for the international non-profit health care organization.

Active for the past three years on behalf of the walks, Mrs. Ward served as Associate Director of the 1972 San Diego Walk which raised more than $80,000 toward the completion of Project Concern's new Hospital Materno-Infantil, recently dedicated in Tijuana.

Some 7,000 walkers participated in that successful fund-raising event.

According to Mrs. Ward, 90% of the 7,000 walkers completed the 20-mile walk to boost the contribution mark to its highest level in the San Diego area in three years.

The 1973 Walk For Man-kind will encompass seven separate routes and draw walkers from all age groups through elementary school students to retired persons wishing to help raise funds for Project Concern and its medical and dental assistance programs.

FASHION SHOW — "Viewpoint '73: Sew Up Spring", a fashion show planned for all California May Company stores will come to this area March 8. L.G. Lion Club Projects Include Youth and Vision

An April Swap Meet project has been set for the Lemon Grove Lions Club, president James V. Dorman said this week.

The public is invited to take part by letting Lions club members gather outcast items and concert them into cash for Lion projects.

Proceeds will be used for youth sports activities, Dorman said. Funds are channeled into Little League Pop Warner and Bobby Sox teams. Those having something to be picked up should call Chuck Munn or Jack Foy at 582-6868.

Later in April the Club will mark its 25th anniversary with a celebration at Kona Kai club on Shelter Island.

This event is set for April 21 with Harry Aslan, Lions International Third Vice President as guest speaker.

Results of the White Cane project were made available this week. Lions club members sell miniature white canes in shopping centers and local business sections each year — usually in October.

The recent project netted $1,600. Target for 1973 is $2,000 according to Dr. Jerry Legerton, Lions club Sight Preservation chairman.

Proceeds from Canes has furnished an eye room at Grossmont hospital which permits patients to get treatment there rather than downtown.

Income has also been used to establish the Lions Sight Clinic on Upas st. in Balboa Park.

Dr. Legerton reported these 1972 activities to his club: "the Lemon Grove Lions financed a program of MCT vision screening for children in the Lemon Grove Schools. The Modified Clinical Technique is the method recommended by the California Optometric Association for kindergarten and first grade children. A total of 773 children were screened with 123 (16%) being referred for professional care. The problems requiring care include eye disease, eye coordination, and errors of sight requiring lens correction to provide clear, comfortable efficient vision."

"In addition to kindergarten and first grade children in both public and private schools in Lemon Grove, some second and third grade children were screened upon the recommendation of Dr. Genevieve Oliphant, school psychologist. These were children either not screened last year or involved in the Miller-Urruh reading program."

Lions club past president Bob Russell is chairman of the White Cane project.

Cookie sales originated in the 1920's and over the past years have resulted in support to youth programs and building and operation of youth programs and camp facilities across the nation. The program is planned and operated by volunteers.

Funds raised by San Diego and Imperial scouts remain in the area to support the local program.

The show, which will be held Friday and Saturday, is expected to attract several thousand people.

Presiding at the convention, until new officers are elected, will be Vera Chaffey, a long-time Lemon Grove businesswoman who retired to paint china. She now manages a ceramics art shop in La Mesa.

Conventioners will come from many parts of the world. Mrs. Chaffey said. China painting is an intricate art which requires great precision. The colors are applied, then fired, then re-colored, and re-fired until the correct color value is achieved. She has a plate she has fired 23 times, she said.

Committee Launches Study Of Nutrition Program For Elderly

The Lemon Grove Committee for a Senior Citizen Nutrition Program agreed at its meeting last week to begin immediately with a survey to determine the need for such a program and for a social services program.

The committee, sponsored by the Lemon Grove Soroptimists Club, includes members of that organization and involves local school district personnel.

The survey will determine the location of the heaviest concentration of senior citizens who would be potential participants in order to locate the optimum site for group meals.

The program, should it be undertaken, would be financed mostly by federal funds, according to Lemon Grove School District Superintendent Robert Sutton, who together with Mt. Vernon School Principal Wiley Cornelius, heads the committee's transportation and resources subcommittee.

Under the program, as it is envisioned by the committee, a common facility, preferably near the concentration of participants, would be used to serve nutritious meals to the elderly with at most a nominal charge.

Those unable to come to the facility would be under the "meals on wheels" portion of the project, with meals delivered to them.

Another important aspect of the program would be a health and social services project which would encourage participants "back into the mainstream of society," according to Evelyn Lauritzen, of the Soroptimists Club.

Meals, which would be served daily, would be prepared in a central location, possibly at a local school.

Some 36,000 drivers operate New York City's taxicabs.

Sweetheart Sought For Salinas Rodeo

Back in 1926, directors of the California Rodeo at Salinas picked St. Valentine's Day to launch a statewide contest to select a Sweetheart to reign over the big cowboy classic held there every year.

The awards she receives have increased in value over the years but the qualifications they seek have remained pretty much the same according to Gene Nielsen, president of this year's rodeo, to be held July 19 through 22.

"The requirements laid out almost fifty years ago have resulted in the finest cowgirls in the state entering the competition at Salinas," Nielsen said. "We see no reason to change them."

"Competition is limited to high school senior girls attending school in California. We want a girl with a high scholastic record who can handle herself on horseback. She should also have a pleasing personality and be able to wear Western clothes well."

A $500 scholarship applicable to tuition at the college of her choice, a trophy and the thrill of reigning over one of the "Big Four" rodeos of the world awaits the winner this year.

Trophies will also be awarded to the winners of the scholarship, horsemanship and personality and appearance phases of the contest.

Application blanks may be obtained by writing California Rodeo, P.O. Box 1648, Salinas, 93901. Entry deadline is June 11.

NEW MANAGER — James J. Imlay has joined the Rancho San Diego management staff in the capacity of manager of landscaping and grounds, it was announced by Leonard Grayson, R&D vice president and general manager. In his new position, Imlay will be responsible for all field operations and construction involving landscaping and recreational facilities for Rancho San Diego, the "new town" development now underway in Spring Valley. Imlay will supervise horticultural and agricultural development as well as the maintenance and protection of grounds and improvements for Rancho San Diego.

First 'Floating' LM-SV School Board Meeting Held at Rancho

The Board of Education of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District plans to hold one of its two monthly meetings in schools, at least on a trial basis. The board normally has met on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the Education Center in La Mesa.

The first of the school-held meetings was at Rancho Elementary School Tuesday, where board members heard firsthand about the year-round school operation in the Spring Valley area.

Board members expect to gain increased knowledge of the school system by alternating their meetings between the Education Center and the district schools. Just as important is their desire to afford citizens the opportunity to observe the board as it conducts the typical business of directing the school districts.

Superintendent James R. Runge has recommended that the board conduct one of its monthly meetings in each of the four district areas. An area is represented by a junior high school and its four or five feeder elementary schools, making a combined total of 21 schools in the district. Dr. Runge also has suggested that principals assist in determining and presenting board meeting topics that represent programs affecting students in their local area.

Historically, the board has always encouraged school district residents to attend its meetings. Now, it is hoped the meeting locations in local schools will encourage more citizens to see and hear the board as it plans for the education of 14,000 children.

30,000 Scouts In Annual Fair

An estimated 30,000 Boy Scouts from throughout San Diego County are involved in plans to participate in the annual Scout Fair to be held May 12 at the exposition grounds in Del Mar.

A steering committee headed by Robert W. "Bob" Arnheim is working simultaneously to coordinate the vast number of details attendant to staging the mammoth activity.

A principle of Century Plaza Towers Condominium, Arnheim is the former Executive Director of San Diego Downtown Association and is well versed in special events and community relations. In 1965 he was listed in Who's Who in the West and the following year, Arnheim was selected as Outstanding Young Man of San Diego City and County.

He cited reasons for the Scout Fair.

"Boys have an opportunity to exercise their skills in preparing 'action' exhibits and showing them off to an expected 60,000 visitors," said Arnheim.

Scouts are able to show the values of Scouting; individual units can raise operational funds through the sale of admission tickets; and Council facilities at camps can be improved from the proceeds of the day-long endeavor. This includes new facilities such as swimming pools and program shelters," he said.

The steering committee will develop a theme which will be carried throughout the displays and activities.

Nominating Convention Set at Helix

Approximately 800 students and teachers will attend Helix High School's 22nd annual nominating convention Saturday in the Helix gym. It will begin at 8 a.m. and end at 5 p.m.

The method of choosing candidates became an annual tradition adopted from Grossmont High School after Helix became a separate school in 1951.

Delegates are elected from each student's second period class. The number of representative delegates depends on the number of students in the class.

A vote is then taken in each class, and the delegate takes the voting results to the convention where represents the choices of his class.

The 1973 associated student body candidates for president are Agnes Kinsella and Brian Turner. The vice-presidential candidates are Randy Landis, Brent Wagner and Jerry Bolshazy. Running for the office of secretary are Debbie Robertson, Elaine Manusos and Debbie Allen.

Fire 'Commission' Names Officers

The three directors of the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District last week elected William Wardwell president of the Board of Directors. James Dorman was elected Secretary.

Dr. Robert Burns, appointed to fill the vacancy created by Parker B. Shumate, who has moved from the District, attended his first meeting. Shumate was president last year. Wardwell was secretary.

Most of the business concerned routine organizational matters such as setting the meeting dates on the second and fourth Mondays each month and re-establishing the compensation at $20 a meeting for each director.

YOGA TEACHER — Heien Fritz, of Spring Valley, said that there are about 840,000 different postures involved in the practice of Yoga and is shown here displaying a few of them. Mrs. Fritz, who is a teacher of Yoga, said that beginning students would learn about 135 postures in one year of instruction, including the 85 basic postures. The local woman began teaching Yoga six years ago after seven years of training, including some by Swami Vishnudevanda and Indra Devi.

Spring Valley Mother Teaches Yoga

The virtues of a sound body are exhibited quite well by a Spring Valley woman, who avoided what was once considered mandatory surgery after she became interested in Yoga.

Helen Elizabeth Fritz, 42, mother of three, suffered from a spinal disorder which several doctors told her would require surgery — a thought that brought horror to her mind.

Openings Still Available In ROP Classes

Persons looking for new jobs, wishing to learn new skills for job advancement, or just plain looking for jobs, may be interested in one of the free vocational classes being offered in the east county area.

Students are still being accepted in graphic communications, plastics, electroplating, emergency road service occupations, and office machine repair classes, which offer good job opportunities after graduation, according to Dick Adams, Regional Occupational Program coordinator for the area.

The classes, funded by the county, are open to any adult or out-of-school youth, regardless of educational level. "We have persons who never finished school as well as college graduates who are looking for training in order to start a new career," Adams said.

The classes are of particular interest to returning servicemen, who may wish additional training in order to obtain civilian jobs. Interested persons should call 278-6400.

Mrs. Donnell to Chair Westgate Plaza Ball

Mrs. R. Evans Donnell has been named chairman of the seventh annual Beaux Arts Ball to be sponsored March 24 by the Women's Committee of the Grossmont Community Concert Association.

The ball will take place in the Versailles Ballroom of the Westgate Plaza Hotel and the theme will be "Reflections." Announcement of Mrs. Donnell's appointment was made by Mrs. Thorwald Lambert, president of the Women's Committee.

Four doctors agreed that the operation would be necessary, but a fifth advised her that it could be avoided if she could strengthen the muscles in her back. So she became interested in Yoga 13 years ago and is now a teacher of the body, Mrs. Fritz said.

Yoga, Mrs. Fritz said, is a science of physical culture which helps "keep you supple and fit and allows you to manipulate energy and blood supply to every part of your body."

The first step in learning Yoga, said the former student of Swami Vishnudevanda, is to learn to breathe correctly. "Most people use only their upper chest in breathing. The proper way is to use the entire lung," she said.

Once the student is breathing correctly, he or she is taught positions which are assumed and held, applying pressure to a certain part of the body. Each position benefits one specific position of the body, Mrs. Fritz said.

There are 840,000 different positions which the most advanced Yoga practitioner uses, but a student with one year of instruction knows only about 135 postures, including 85 basic positions.

A few months of instruction are all that are necessary for one to learn enough Yoga to keep in good physical condition, according to Mrs. Fritz, who once studied under Indra Devi, who is famous in Yoga circles.

The difference between Yoga and an exercise program, the local woman maintains, is that Yoga postures don't increase the heart rate or put strain on the muscles. There is also less danger of pulling or stretching a muscle.

After the student becomes advanced in Yoga practice, he or she may want to go into the meditation portion of the Yoga program, which is similar to the practice of transcendental meditation.

Mrs. Fritz first became interested in Yoga when she came to Spring Valley in 1960 and began teaching in 1967. She has taught at the Self Realization Fellowship in San Diego, as well as the Golden Door, a well-known health spa.

At the Golden Door, Mrs. Fritz said, she taught movie stars, politicians, judges, lawyers, and doctors. She currently has children and adults of all ages, including elderly students up to 73 years old.

Classes at her home are Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8 p.m. and Wednesday morning from 10 to 11:30 a.m. The Monday class is followed by a meditation class.

She presently has openings in her classes she said, which costs $2 per class. She may be reached at 463-6156.

Miguel Musicmakers Face Busy Schedule

The Mt. Miguel High School Jazz Ensemble and Pep Band are both involved in activities this weekend as the Matador's spring schedule moves into high gear.

Ensemble members travel to La Mirada, Saturday, for a jazz competition at Neff High. Miguel's selections include music from "Jesus Christ, Superstar," "West Side Story," and a Frank Zappa Medley.

The Pep Band will perform during the San Diego Conquistadors' American Basketball Association game at San Diego State University, Sunday evening.

Tuesday, Feb. 27, the Cal State Northridge University orchestra is to play a concert at Mt. Miguel gym. The 7:30 p.m. affair is free to the public.

Cal State Northridge is recognized as one of the state's finest college bands and has been selected to play at the Music Educators' National Conference in Phoenix, Ariz., Mar. 1. Larry Christiansen is the orchestra director.

Mt. Miguel instrumental music department students are currently selling tickets to their third annual spring concert, "A Double Feature," March 9 and 10. The two day affair will feature the symphonic band and concert band, March 9, and the orchestra, wind ensemble and stage band, March 10.

Tickets are $1 and admit the purchasers to both performances, and make purchasers eligible to prizes which include a microwave radar oven, two ten-speed bicycles and two $50 gift certificates.

Ken Norton-M. Ali Sign For March 31 Fight Here

by Max Goodwin

Muhammad Ali and San Diego's Ken Norton signed a contract to meet each other for a 12-round heavyweight fight in San Diego March 31 at the Sports Arena — but it wasn't easy.

They had to overcome what had to be the most unruly "press conference" ever perpetrated. It attracted more politicians, hangers-on, near-giants of the sporting scene, and curious strangers than it did people of the press.

Some people apparently, were attracted by a public invitation — a signboard at the Holiday Inn in La Jolla, where the signing ceremony took place, which read in large letters "Ali-Norton Press Conference — Cove Room."

In all, the ceremony attracted more than 200 sports type and reporters who had to wait for nearly an hour for Ali to appear. He was taking a California Boxing Commission medical examination. He passed.

While the crowd, which included a bevy of noisy females, was waiting — the waiting was in high style. The style was provided by C. E. "Lee" Fruin, San Diego's newest fight promoter. Fruin, a wealthy investor, had promised to bring a top ranking fight to San Diego. He made waiting easier with a never-dry, free bar and long tables loaded with such diet-wrecking goodies as lobster, shrimp, broiled steak cubes, barbecued ribs, bacon-laced broiled chicken livers, and ham cones filled with some exotic substance all of which reduced restlessness and hunger pains.

Lute Mason, a noted local publicist, gave situation reports over the room's p.a. system while the Ali party attended his exam before heading north of US 5.

Mason's announcements were in competition with a mod musical trio Fruin had hired to fill a possible void of noise if such occurred. None did but the music went on, barely overriding the din of loud conversation and deep laughter.

"Here Comes Ali" Then, over this clatter Mason made the announcement, "... and here comes Muhammad Ali!" Poor Kenny Norton, the local gladiator, hardly got a notice. Norton is a nice, quiet guy, 28 years old, a good, steady fighter, who genuinely appreciates having reporters talk with him.

It was all Ali from the minute he walked into the room. A claque of strange looking persons set up a chant every time Ali touched a subject familiar to his followers.

He also touched on subjects that are becoming familiar to reporters. "I'm pretty" (He's extremely handsome) "I'm fast" (He is) "I'm smart" (He is) "I'm the champ" (No, but he'll have a chance to regain it within two years) "I keep the fight alive" (That, he does) "I fought them all and beat them all" (Many fans claim Ali beat the fight out of Joe Frazier, his former sparring partner).

Someone mentioned the Marine Corps in a question. That did it. Ali exploded. The draft card situation is still a sensitive matter with Ali.

KSDO sports reporter Rod Paige happened to be directly in front of the lectern while Ali uncorked on the armed service and people who brought the matter up. Paige asked what seemed to be a sensible question about Ali's Valentine's Night fight with Joe Bugner. "Were you tired? You were not up on your toes in the final rounds," was the question.

Ali snapped at him. "Who are you. The local Howard Cosell? Cosell gets paid for being an idiot. What's your excuse?"

Mule Story Later, regarding a question about being hit by Bugner, Ali again poured it on Paige. "Now I remember you. When I lived on a farm in Kentucky we had a mule that was dumb. I used to whop him. My grand-daddy used to warn me. 'You keep hittin' that mule and someday he's gonna come back and haunt you!'"

Then Ali turned to the audience and pointed to the reporter. "And there he is," he said. Ali's followers roared with laughter.

I'm going to sign these papers (the contract with Fruin) and then I'm going to leave this one-horse town. When I get in the ring here I want everybody to boo me so I can take it out on your man." Angelo Dundee, Ali's trainer, sitting at the table with the fighters, appeared bored with it all.

Ali will collect $200,000 plus training expenses for his 36 minutes work (12 rounds x 3 minutes) — if he goes the limit. Norton will get $50,000 plus expenses — his biggest payday ever.

Fruin will be on the hook for more than $350,000 when the bell rings for the opening round.

Tevee Blackout Nearly half of the "nut" will come back to him from television which will be live over Wide World of Sports (ABC) but blacked out locally. The rest of it will have to come from ticket sales.

Arena seats will be scaled from $100 for ringside down to $10 for general admission. There will be 17,000 available — about 2,000 more than for hockey or basketball because the playing area will have seats.

Interestingly, $100 tickets are already being ordered at the Sports Arena "will-call" window.

Peter Graham, Arena operator, said the place will sell out. "In two or three weeks people will fall over each other trying to get tickets," he said.

Any way you look at it, Ali gives an added dimension to the business of fighting.

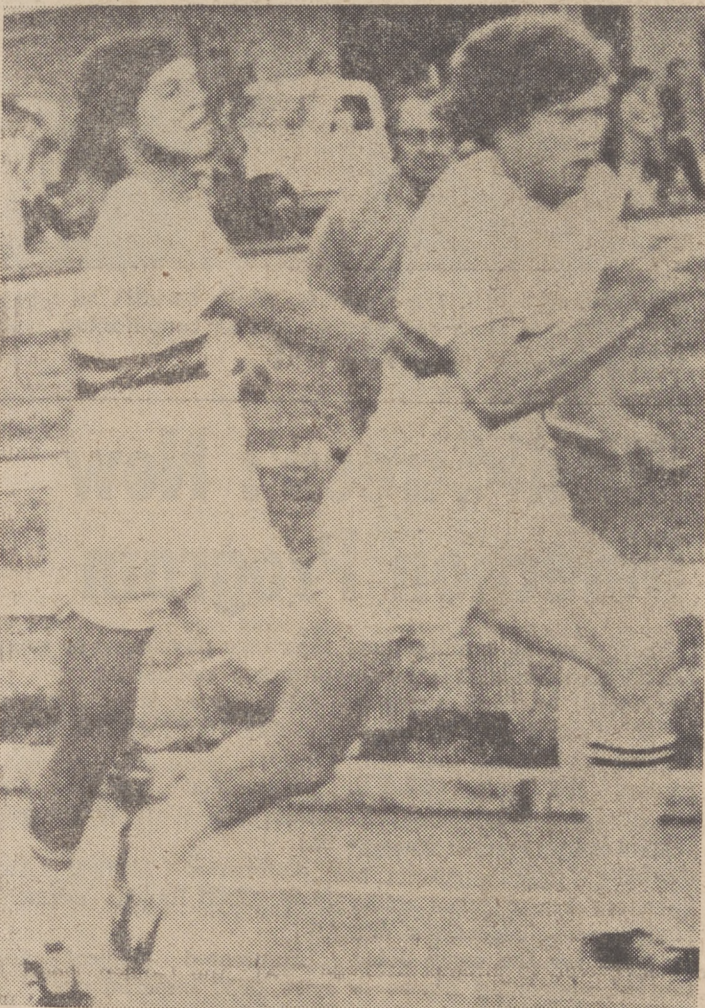

That, coupled with the appointment of veteran teevie sports announcer, Al Coupee, as a member of the California State Athletic (Boxing) Commission, and Lee Fruin with fresh money and a fine reputation, may provide the ingredients, converting San Diego into the boxing capital of the nation.

JUST MISSED — Doug Baldwin, Grossmont College high jump, long jump, and triple jump artist, misses in high jump action in last Wednesday's meet against Glendale.

Baldwin was unable to place in the high jump, but won both the long and triple jumps as Grossmont opened the track and field season with a 98-47 win.

NOT PERFECT, but good enough was the handoff from Marc Romano, left, to Rick Bridges in the first switch of the baton in the 440-yard relay last Wednesday at Grossmont College. The relay team, despite a little rust, managed to stop the clock in 43.6 seconds for the distance, good enough to easily beat Glendale. Other men on the relay team were Tom Piszkin and anchor man Jim Talbot.

Spitz to be Honored As California's Top Athlete

Mark Spitz, who won an unprecedented seven gold medals in the Munich Olympic Games last summer, will be honored as the 1972 California Athlete of the Year at the 27th annual Banquet of Champions Feb. 28 at the Town and Country Convention Center in San Diego.

Crows Claim Trio of Wins

The Scare Crows won three games while the second place Gold Trojans won two out of three in recent Spring Valley Recreation Girls' Basketball action, enabling the Crows to strengthen its league lead to two and a half games over the Trojans.

The Scare Crows, topping all teams with a 10-0 record, whipped the Munchkins, 47-6, plastered the Bratty Bunch, 34-18, and topped Uleake Pinwaters, 28-16.

The Trojans, with a 7-2 mark, were nearly victims of a hot Green Machine team, which won four games to one.

The Green Machine vaulted into third place with four big victories. Wins were over the Bouncing Bubbles, 40-37, the Bratty Bunch, 31-24, the Orange Lifesavers, 48-24, and the Stringbeans, 28-25.

The big victory was the one over Bouncing Bubbles, a team that fell into fourth place.

The hottest scorer in recent action is Denise Christensen, who tallied 22 points in the Crows' victory over the Munchkins, 47-6.

Griffs Start Season With Easy Victory

The Grossmont College track and field season got off to a fast start last Wednesday afternoon when the Griffs hosted Glendale College and battled to a 98-47 victory.

For the Griffs, it was the 28th victory in as many dual meets over the last four years, and it was a fine way to begin the new season.

The meet, a hurry-up affair from the start because of expected rain, was never in doubt as the field events got underway. Grossmont is not known for its field event strength, but victories in the long jump and triple jump by Doug Baldwin, and by Les Frank in the discus and javelin gave the Griffs the lead even before the track events got well underway.

On the track, Glendale stood little chance as Grossmont racked up sweeps in the 100-yard dash, led by Marc Romano, in the 880, led by Bob Bishop, in the mile, led by Tom Lux, and in the 120-yard high hurdles, led by Scott Dries.

Added were victories in the two-mile by Larry Stone, the 440-yard intermediate hurdles by Donovan Marthis, and in the 440-yard relay by the team of Romano, Rick Bridges, Tom Piszkin and Jim Talbot.

Grossmont looks to be the strongest again this season among Mission Conference teams — and the Griffs last week were without the services of several standouts.

Distances ace Terry Cotton and Ed Mendoza sat out to be rested for the San Diego Indoor Games, and several stars are still involved in basketball competition and will not compete for a few weeks.

Lions Drop Two Games Behind Post

The La Mesa Lions dropped their third game of the season to fall two games behind league leading American Legion Post 282 in Division I of the La Mesa Recreation Department Basketball League.

After dropping a notly contested game two weeks ago to Post 282, the Lions were a game behind. Last week, the Lions took on the Post in a second showdown: the winner would have first place.

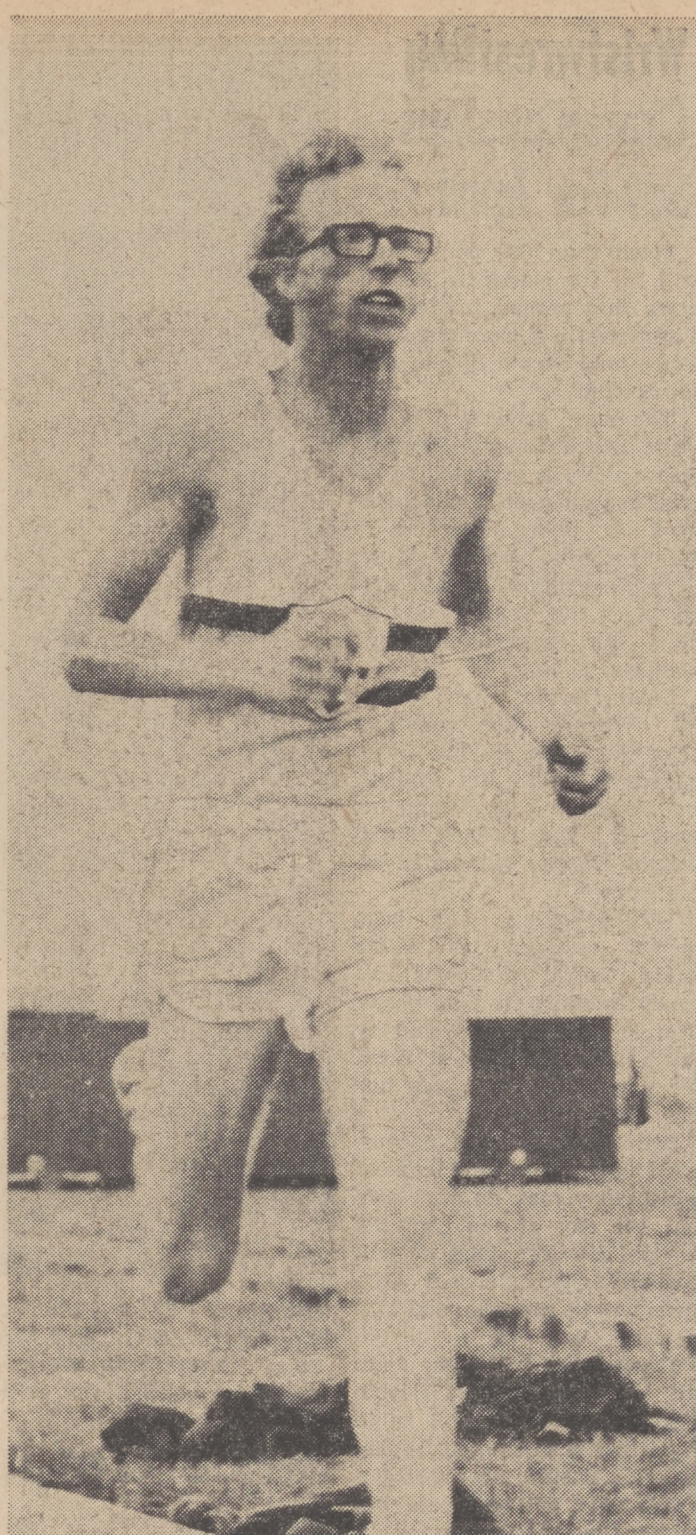

But the Lions couldn't quite get the victory, although the team won two other games on the week over La Mesa Lumber, 50-49, and over Optimists, 56-43.

American Legion won its only other game, a 75-61 stomping of Scotty's Shell.

In Division II, La Mesa Rotary missed a Golden Opportunity to take over first place after Jim's U-Rent — previously undefeated — lost to King's Engraving, 29-27.

The loss, coupled with a victory by Rotary over Kiwanis, 54-21, set up a showdown match. As the game began, Jim's led Rotary by a half game with an 8-1 record. Rotary was 8-2.

Rotary's Scott Reese scorching the nets for 30 points in the game, but Jim's came out on top, 53-49 to keep a firm hold on the top spot.

LEADS SWEEP — Tom Lux, Grossmont College's fine distance runner, had things all to himself in the mile run last week against Glendale and led a Grossmont sweep that also included Bob Wilson in second place and Joe Stubbs in third place. Lux fought off a cold windy afternoon to clock in at 4:21.2 for the mile, with Wilson at 4:24.7 and Stubbs at 4:26.4. The Griffs also picked up points in the other distance event, the two-mile, as Larry Stone stopped the watch at 9:36.8.

Wrestling Championships Set For April

More than 600 contestants will try for places in San Diego's first annual Invitational Wrestling championships to be held at the Sports Arena April 22.

The event, sponsored by the San Diego County Sheriff's Association, is expected to attract an audience of 8,000 persons or more according to Bill Clements, president of the Sheriff's group. He said proceeds of the event would be used for crippled children's projects.

Dave Devoto, chief officer of World's Wrestling Championships, in San Diego Monday, said Jim Pollock, middleweight champ, and his brother, Ted Pollack, lightweight champ, will be in attendance.

Wrestling has been shown nationally on ABC's Wide World of Sports five times in the past four years. The 1971 event was said by ABC to be the highest rated show in WWofS's 11 year history, Devoto said.

San Diegans are encouraged to enter the contest which they may do at 9 a.m. on the day of the contests. Several sheriff's deputies will compete, Clements said. Contests will be at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Contestants will come from all over the nation Devoto said. Competition will be in five divisions: Up to 150 lbs; 151-175; 176-200, over 200.

Women will compete but without weight limitations. Tickets will be $2.50 a person but family tickets are available at the Arena.

Spring Training Starts On Padre Ticket Sales

son ticket plans starting at a cost of only $60.

Included in the mailer from banks other than Bank of America is the following statement:

"... we are offering this opportunity to watch the San Diego Padres in action in San Diego Stadium. It is our way of lending support to a fine baseball team. We hope you'll lend your support, too."

Mailers to Bank of America customers read:

"Bank of America is participating in this special distribution of season ticket order forms as one way of expressing our faith in the future of the Padres and major league baseball in San Diego."

The Padre "maxi" or full season ticket plan ranges in cost from $175 for loge seats to $250 for plaza seats and $280 for field or press level seats.

The "midi" plan, 36 dates or approximately one-half of the home season on Wednesday, Friday and Sunday or Tuesday and Saturday at $60 for loge seats, $84 for plaza and $96 for field.

For those persons who desire a partial season ticket, the Padres offer a "mini" plan — 24 dates taken on Wednesday and Friday or Friday and Saturday or Tuesday and Saturday at $60 for loge seats, $84 for plaza and $96 for field.

The February 26 meeting of the Lemon Grove Woman's Club Juniors will be held at the home of member Mrs. James Rushing, 7748 Blackpool rd., San Diego. Plans for the Juniors' annual rummage sale will be finalized at the meeting.

Tottering Gulls Home for Games Sat. and Sunday

The San Diego Gulls will try to salvage a victory from the current five game road trip when they travel to Seattle tonight to meet the Totems. Game time is 8 p.m. over KOGO Radio 60. John Brooks will call the play-by-play.

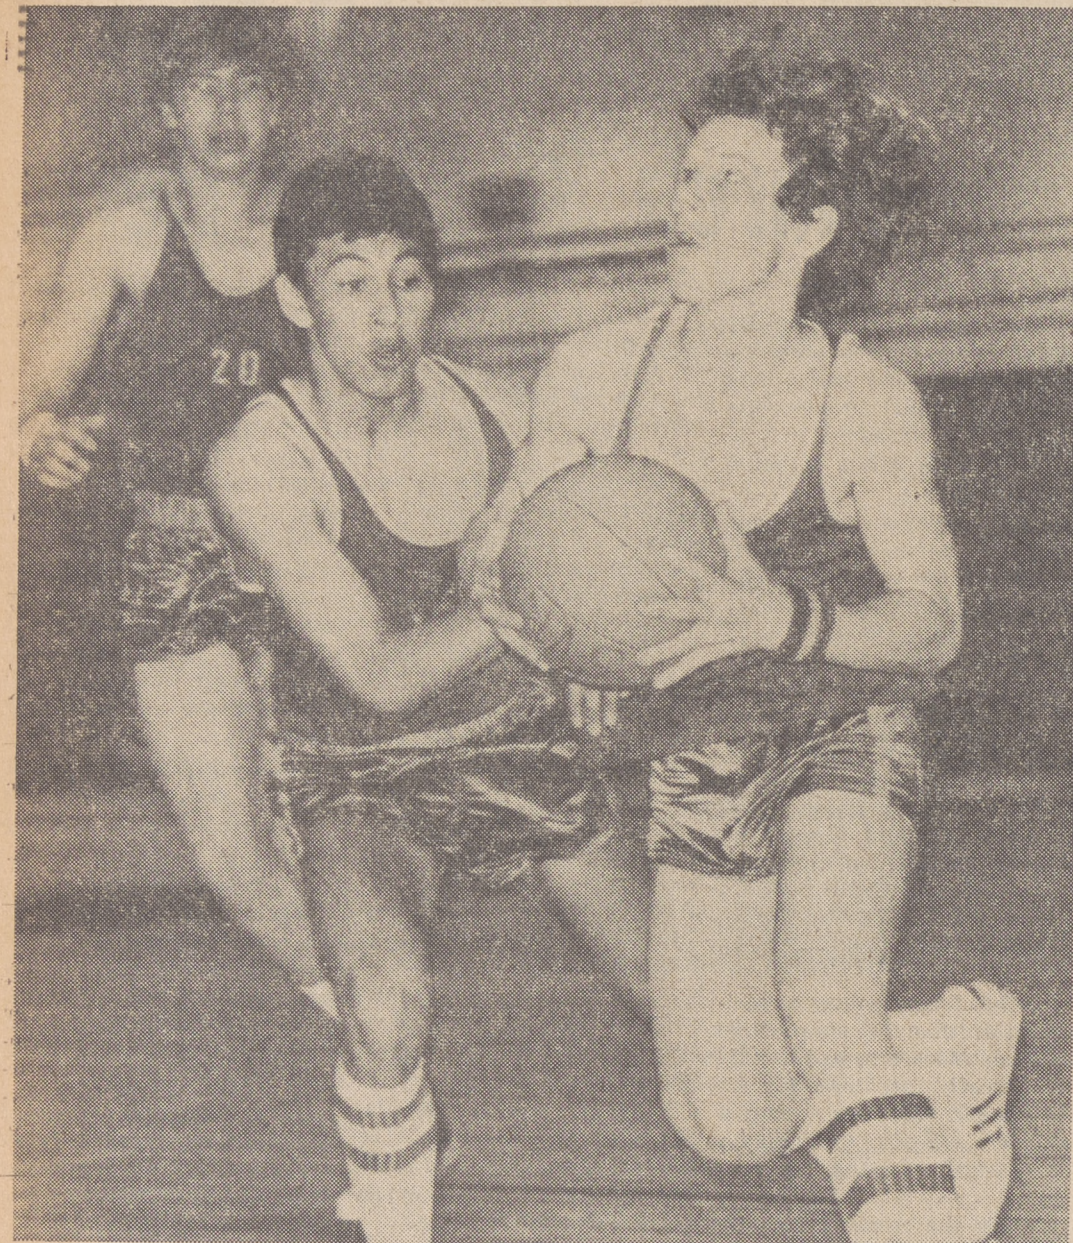

Frustration would probably be the best word to describe the recent road swing to the Central League. Last Tuesday the Gulls lost in the last minute to the Fort Worth Wings by a 2-1 score. The following evening in Dallas, the Gulls were defeated by a close 4-2 decision. After an off day, Omaha was the opposition and the San Diegans lost another heartbreaker 4-2 with the fourth Knight goal scored in the closing seconds. The fourth and final game of the trip saw Tulsa shutout the Gulls 2-0. San Diego netminder Ken Broderick had 39 saves, the highest total for a Gull goalie this season.

On the brighter side, the Gulls will take a 19-33 home record to the Sports Arena Saturday night, February 24 against the Salt Lake City Golden Eagles. The Eagles are the top team in the Western League and are led by high scoring center Lyle Bradley and flashy right wing Ron Huston. Both are in the top ten in the WHL scoring race.

The following night, Sunday, the Phoenix Roadrunners will be in San Diego for the third time this month. Faceoff is set for 7 p.m. and it will be the final John Morrell Ladies Night for this season. Ladies will receive a $1 discount on all $3.50 and $3 seats.

More than 100 European cities are connected by 35 main route trains in nine countries with passenger trains that run an average of 90 miles an hour.

Women who enlist in the air force and take training at Lackland Air Force base will be assigned to kitchen police just like men.

BIG GAME — Eric Lijstrom, of the Kiwanis team in the Spring Valley Recreation basketball league, drives on Rotary's Arturo Spaan in game Saturday at Mt. Miguel gymnasium, as Rotary's Bill Smith watches in background. Lijstrom missed the hook shot after photo was snapped, and Rotary went on to win the thriller, 57-53. Rotary is now 11-1, while Kiwanis is in second place with a 10-2 mark. The win boosted Rotary's chances of claiming the league title with two weeks left in the season.

Indoor Meets To Improve Says Promoter Al Franken

Al Franken, where are you? Franken, the producer of outstanding indoor track and field until he was shuffled out of the Arena by the San Diego Track Club was in the audience saying how well he thought SDTC was doing.

Franken is a kind man. He saw the confusion, the lack of attendance, the miserable starting official who held dashers at the ready for as long as 10 seconds, and the lack of identification of distances and heights until the games were about over. But he didn't comment on that.

The Saturday night indoor did attract 8,398, a considerable gain over the first effort by SDTC last year. But they will be better. Meet Director Tony Sucee called a "critique" and most of the shortcomings will be ironed out.

Moreover, Franken, who is headquartered in Los Angeles will bring a professional meet here in May 19 has offered to join forces with SDTC next year to provide better organization and presentation.

The professional meet that Franken will unveil here in May will feature such speed greats as Kip Keino and Jim Ryan, plus a long list of other athletes who have decided to turn pro.

He will showcase such performances as the shotput with all other events quiet while a single spotlight shines on the athlete. He will also have runners paced with a spot of light traveling at the current world record speed.

A reporter asked if there would be much of a difference in income for amateurs when they turn pro. A question that pretty well spells out the problem in amateur ranks today.

Franken, has been a critic of some elements of amateurism has summed it up by pointing to the Olympics.

"I think athletics should be run for athletes. But right now amateur track is run for officials by officials." He said that Munich was an example.

'La Cita No. 2' Is New Business Here

Among Lemon Grove's new businesses is La Cita No. 2, a take-home Mexican food service operation at 2605 Imperial ave.

Operated by Frank Verdugo and Teodora Gilbert, both residents of Chula Vista, the shop specializes in tacos and burritos made with hand-made tortillas.

The owners also operate another shop, La Cita, at 835 Palm ave., National City. They decided to open the second shop, Verdugo said, because several of their National City customers came from the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area.

Women who enlist in the air force and take training at Lackland Air Force base will be assigned to kitchen police just like men.

Peace Corps Assignment Good For College Credit

Journeymen skilled tradesmen, community college graduates and experienced teachers all gain university credit opportunities under the provisions of a new Peace Corps technical teaching program sponsored by Cal State University San Diego in association with four other California State Universities, including Long Beach and Los Angeles.

The California Intern Program, the first technical teaching plan of its kind in the United States, will launch the accredited skilled trades activities with a series of four weekend workshops in Los Angeles conducted by Cal State faculty beginning March 30.

A total of two hundred skilled tradesmen and experienced teachers from Southern California are currently being recruited for Peace Corps vocational teaching assignments in Micronesia, Malaysia and Tunisia. During the two years overseas while teaching trade skills and training other vocational education teachers, the Peace Corps tradesman earns college credits which he can apply toward qualification for a California teaching credential, Lesh said.

Interviews Set
Peace Corps interviews are scheduled today and tomorrow.

Today's interviews will be held at San Diego State, room SE203-E of the science and engineering building from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and at the Holiday Inn at First and Cedar sts. in San Diego, room 1403-4 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

On Friday, interviews will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

Larry Lesh, Peace Corps spokesman, urged February filing of applications to allow time for processing. The overseas training program begins during May in the three Peace Corps host countries preceding the two year teaching assignment.

He emphasized that any

'Medi-Screen': New Detection Program

Free physical examinations for all Medi-Cal recipients under age 21 are now available in a number of locations around the state, and more centers are being added to the program each week.

Medi-Cal Director Dwight St. Geduldig urged parents to have children checked under Medi-Screen, Medi-Cal's new program for the early detection of impending illness or physical defects.

"Serious physical handicaps and diseases can often be avoided or cured if found early enough," Geduldig declared. "Regular checkups will help keep children healthy. To be examined under Medi-Screen, Medi-Cal recipients need only show a current Medi-Cal ID card or a proof of eligibility label. There are no other restrictions, no other authorization required."

Medi-Screen testing includes complete physical examination, tests for vision and hearing, blood and urine analyses, immunizations, dental checkup and mental testing through the Denver Development Screening Test. Patients requiring further diagnosis or treatment will be referred to their own physicians or to appropriate specialists.

Medi-Screen is available at the following locations in San Diego: Automated Medical Analysts, 142 West Washington St.; Automated Medical Analysts, 12405 Rancho Bernardo rd.; Automated Medical Analysts, 2530 Imperial ave.

Additional screening centers are being established throughout the state, Geduldig said. For those locations, or for other information about Medi-Screen, Medi-Cal parents may contact their local county welfare departments.

Local Golfer in A. Williams Open

He didn't win $34,000 but he had a lot of fun.

So says Bob York, operator of the Grove Barber Shop on Broadway in Lemon Grove. Actually, he didn't win anything.

York, a 10 handicapper who shoots around 80 at Cottonwood Country club, was one of the amateurs in the SD Andy Williams Open. He didn't make the cut but he played the Torrey Pines pay-off two days.

He won the Masters at Cottonwood to qualify for the contest. He also won the $450 entry fee. His professional companions were Rocky Thompson of Texas and Larry Wood of North Carolina, both professionals. The amateurs were Grant Beals and Mel Gunst, east county residents.

York said the pros he played with during the two days were as good as the top pros "... except their putting."

He attended the Andy Williams dinner party at Town and Country to which all the golfers were invited.

Presentations were made by Klauber to James F. Mulvaney and R. R. Richardson, chairman and vice chairman, respectively, of the 1972 United Crusade.

Small Storms Drop .34 Inch In Area

Following a day of intermittent sun last Wednesday, a weak storm passed over Lemon Grove and Spring Valley last Thursday, dropping .29 inches of rain.

The storm was separate from one that brought four days of rain — almost 2 inches — earlier last week.

Another storm visited this week after a sunny weekend, dropping .04 inch Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

The new rain brought the season total to a whopping 12.07 inches, as compared with 4.49 which fell by this date last season. Rain season is from July 1.

Auxiliary Units Set Annual Horse Show

An early California theme will be carried through the Second Annual Hill Country Horse Show at the Rancho Bernardo Saddle Club March 14.

Sponsored by five units of the Women's Auxiliary to Children's Health Center, this year's show will feature the trappings of the fiesta days of the early California ranchos.

Co-chairmen of the show are Mrs. John Hattox, Richard Kasche, and Jeanne Taylor of the Rancho Bernardo Unit.

Auxiliary members will wear colorful costumes and bright flags and baskets of flowers will decorate the buildings and fences. A deep pit beef barbecue, Marachi bands and Spanish dancers will enhance the scene.

Supreme Court Judge Douglas To Be Here For 'Law Week'

A Law Week luncheon featuring U. S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and a "Day in Court" program will highlight the S.D. County Bar Association's observance of Law Week, April 30-May 4.

The luncheon, on April 30, will be co-sponsored by the Mayor's Civic Committee, the Commandant of the 11th Naval District and all local judges.

The fourth annual "Day in Court" program of open houses at five county courthouses is set for Law Day USA, May 1.

The award-winning program will be hosted by the superior and municipal court judges in keeping with this year's Law Day theme, "Help Your Courts — Assure Justice."

Record Year For 'Yes We Can' Plan

More than 2.7 million pounds of aluminum cans were collected in 1972 by the "Yes We Can" aluminum can reclamation and recycling program, sponsored by the Aluminum Company of America.

The total represents nearly 60,000,000 cans collected last year and more than $270,000 returned to the San Diego community.

Summer took its toll with the thirsty and the local recycling program reaped the benefits. July was a record month with 320,162 pounds of aluminum cans collected, while the record week was Sept. 2 with 77,715 pounds.

During 1971, 1.6 million pounds — or more than 35,000,000 cans — were collected for recycling.

Alcoa began the pilot reclamation program in San Diego County in September, 1970, and to date, 4,582,828 pounds — or 100,822,216 cans — have been returned to Alcoa. San Diego residents have received $458,283 in return for the cans.

Adolph Coors Company started aluminum can recycling in the San Diego area in April, 1970.

Nationally, more than 8.6 million pounds of aluminum cans were shipped to Alcoa's recycling facility in Indiana, last year, up from 5.7 million the previous year.

Under its reclamation and recycling program, Alcoa pays individuals and organizations ten cents a pound to collect or save aluminum cans and turn them in to a "Yes We Can" center. About 22 aluminum cans equal one pound.

Burglar Takes Coin Collection

A. F. Anderson, of 6905 Central ave., Lemon Grove, was the victim of a burglary last week in which thieves made off with a coin collection valued at $3,500.

Anderson said that he and his wife left the residence at about 7 p.m. last Thursday evening, only to return at 9 p.m. to find the coin collection gone.

Anderson had left the coin collection in plain view, he said, and the house was not disturbed much. The thieves apparently broke a kitchen window to gain entry.

Also missing was a suitcase, which was apparently used to carry the coin collection away.

Included in the collection were about 700 coins, many foreign and a few American coins. The burglars left behind several more valuable pieces, leading Anderson to believe that the theft was committed by an amateur.

Anderson has offered a reward of $300 for return of the collection.

County Experiences Influenza Outbreak

A minor flu outbreak has been experienced in the county for the past few weeks, but it is expected to subside soon, according to Director of Public Health J. B. Askew.

Askew indicated that 18 deaths in the county during January were attributed to influenza, mostly among the elderly. Although the figure is significant, Askew said, it is not alarming, as an increase in deaths caused by flu and other respiratory infections occurs annually during the winter months.

Askew indicated that there is no way to keep from contracting influenza, but there are several things which can be done to minimize the chance.

"Avoid crowds and large gatherings during a flu outbreak," he said, "and be sure you are getting adequate rest. Well-balanced meals and plenty of fluids; they may help keep your resistance high."

Naturally, he said, it is wise to avoid close contact with persons who may have the flu.

RODEO — Youngsters of Lemon Grove Elementary schools, plus those at Avondale and Rancho Elementary schools in Spring Valley, will compete in a bicycle ability contest sponsored by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club in conjunction with the California Highway Patrol. Youngsters will be eligible for the Rodeo if they pass a written test. More than 1,000 contestants will participate.

'Salute to Stull' Dinner Raises Nearly $60,000

A full-fledged Party extravaganza to support Assemblyman John Stull's bid for the state senate seat vacated by U. S. Representative Clair Burgener attracted more than 600 faithful and a clutch of Republican bigwigs to a $100 a plate dinner.

The dinner Thursday night at the Royal Inn at the Wharf, brought Gov. Ronald Reagan as speaker and Congressman Clair Burgener as master of ceremonies.

It also attracted U. S. Congressman Bob Wilson; State Senate caucus chairman John Harner; Assembly Republican caucus chairman Robert G. Beverly; Republican state chairman Gordon C. Luce, and county chairman Les Gehres.

Burgener read a telegram from President Richard Nixon endorsing John Stull's candidacy.

Coles in Race For L.G. School Board

G. Walter Coles, 34, of 2529 Washington st., Lemon Grove, who advocates getting back to the "three R's", is a candidate for the Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees.

Coles, who is director of the Salvation Army's Bureau of Social Services, has been active in community affairs and is presently a member of the Lemon Grove Planning Association executive committee and chairman of that group's social services subcommittee.

He is the father of two youngsters who attend Mt. Vernon School, where Coles is a member of the PTA and the citizen's advisory council.

Coles listed two important changes which he would like to see made in the school district. First, he said, he wants an informed board relating to changes in financing of educational programs, particularly relating to a responsibility to the taxpayers to provide sound educational programs with responsible fiscal management.

Secondly, he said "I think that the school board should be more responsive to the goals and needs of our community, possibly in terms of encouraging greater citizen participation in planning and evaluation of our educational system."

He added that he thought that residents of the district are proud of their district and that the board has made an initial effort relating to citizen participation, but that "this effort should be greatly expanded."

He described his philosophy, indicating that he feels a need for greater emphasis on basic education, including the "three R's", in areas of personal and vocational adjustment.

He added that he is not running against someone or something, but rather it is his feeling that his concerns and background could be effectively applied to the board.

He cited a decreasing birth rate in the Lemon Grove area as something which will cause problems with the local schools and indicated that "our schools will require even greater effort and skills to successfully cope with the problems that every district will face."

He said he believes that the quality of activities in existing facilities are going to be a prime concern rather than the concerns of increasing facilities.

LG Man Jailed On Marijuana Charges

A Lemon Grove youth was arrested earlier this month at North and Main sts. in Lemon Grove on charges of possession of marijuana.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, deputies patrolling the area February 9 saw suspect Ricky S. Williams, 19, along with a La Mesa man walking along the roadway at about 9:45 a.m.

Routine name checks were run on the subjects, and while the deputy was using his vehicle radio, he noticed a small object coming from the direction of the suspects, apparently thrown by one of them.

The name check revealed previous arrests and that the La Mesa man had given up his rights regarding search as a condition of probation. Both subjects were searched, and a small quantity of marijuana was found on Williams, although nothing was found on the La Mesa man, who was not detained further.

The small object believed to be thrown by one of the two men was retrieved. It was a bottle containing a small quantity of marijuana.

IRS Moves to New Home but Tax Bills Due as Before

IRS has moved! But not far enough to avoid payment.

IRS is the Internal Revenue Service. They collect taxes. The new office is in the Security Pacific Building Financial Center — a high-rise white building that appears up from an intersection made by 395 and Mission Valley freeway.

The official address is 591 Camino de la Reina. But for a guy carrying a handful of tax forms and a head full of tax problems, he should welcome a more easily understood road map than 591 Camino de la Reina.

The trick is to get on the north side of Mission Valley freeway. The freeway also carries the designation Interstate 8 and US 80. Call it what you will, you've got to peel off the freeway traveling west when you get to Mission Valley Center off-lane. Stay on the frontage road and there it is.

It is not so simple when you miss the Center off-lane. Then you turn north on US 395 (which is also State 163). You've got to get into Fashion Valley from 395, cutting under the freeway and then doubling back to Camino de la Reina headed east.

Having made it to the Security Pacific Building, chances are you're headed for the sixth floor although IRS occupies the floor above and below also. There you'll get the help you need.

A better deal is to call IRS. The number is 293-5151. Chances are they can solve your problem as easily over the phone as they can in person. The number is the same as it was when IRS was crowded into the old building at 3977 Ohio st., about three miles away. That office is now closed.

IRS is basically a service organization. Emphasis is on courteous, efficient service, according to Vincent Scarpino, manager of the IRS operation here.

Experts are on hand year 'round 8 a.m.-4:45 p.m. But extended hours are in effect now. From the first of the year until April 16, the office is open until 7 p.m. on Mondays, 6 p.m. on Wednesdays, and from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. each Saturday. Then it's back to the 5-day a week operation.

Leonard L. Klee, President Of School Board, Eyes Re-Election

Leonard L. Klee, 52, of 8043 Darryl st., Lemon Grove, who believes that education is one of the most important functions of society, is a candidate in the Lemon Grove School Board race.

Klee, who is president of the board, is facing re-election for the first time. Four years ago, Klee ran for the board and told voters that he would strive to help educate youngsters about the dangers of drugs and narcotics.

He said that he believes that the board has fulfilled that promise in putting the brakes on drug abuse.

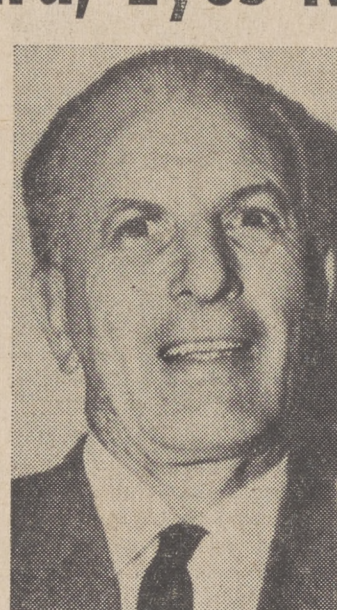

In addition, he said, the school district's goal of a decreased burden on local taxpayers is finally beginning to be realized.

There are still improvements to be made, however, Klee said.

His goals for the future of the district include more community involvement in schools as well as better financial support for the district.

Regarding community involvement, Klee said that the district needs to change to keep up with the times. "I was active in Parent-Teacher Associations for a long time," Klee said, "but now it is not enough."

"We need community involvement directly with the board," he said. He cited the recent election when the citizen's of the state voted for more local control of school districts.

He also noted that citizen advisory committees have been formed for Lemon Grove Schools and that a textbook selection committee — made up of local residents and district personnel — is currently being formed.

He called those examples steps in the right direction toward achieving his goal, which would enable the citizens of the district to tell the district what it should work for.

Regarding finance for schools, Klee said that he hopes the board will be able to "work on the Federal government" to achieve adequate school financing without putting a heavy burden on local taxpayers.

He indicated his pleasure with SB-90, the recently-passed law which will bring increased state aid to schools while lowering property taxes.

Klee also said that he was proud of the district and was running for re-election because "I want to help carry forth the programs and economics of a respected district."

He said that the district's reading program is improving and that he is happy with an increasingly good industrial arts program. He also expressed his pleasure and pride with an excellent music program and programs in foreign language, math and other subjects.

Klee, who works for the City of San Diego as a Civil Engineer, has been active in PTA, Camp Fire Girls leadership, church groups, and other youth organizations.

He has received a PTA Honorary Life Membership and was the recipient of the PTA Laurels Award. He and his wife, Evelyn are the parents of two daughters.

John E. Linn, SD School Employee Enters for L.G. School Board Race

John E. Linn, of 3221 Lemon lane, Lemon Grove, a budget analyst for the S.D. Unified School District, announced his candidacy for the Lemon Grove School Board.

Linn, 38, the father of four Lemon Grove School children. He is one of seven seeking three vacancies.

Linn said the school board "must do a better job of communicating with the people."

He said he believes the schools can resist higher taxes but not compromising the quality of education. "The board must be responsive to citizens who no longer have children in the schools, as well as to parents of school-age children," Linn said.

"This district has the highest tax rate in the County," he said. "If we are going to pay high taxes I want to see that we get the maximum benefits for the money."

"The board has been a good board but they have not attacked some of the more routine problems as enthusiastically as they could."

"With 'impact aid' dropped, cuts in programs and reduction in services must be considered. The District can stand only so much tax burden. It may be necessary to reduce the classified staff and yet provide the taxpayers with an efficient operation and the students with a good system."

He is a graduate of Arizona State U. with a Bachelor of Science degree in economics and he has taken graduate studies in law.

John E. Linn

Before becoming a budget analyst for the city schools, he was an administrative accountant at Teledyne Ryan Aeronautical Co. Previously, he was assistant to the city manager of National City.

Linn currently is chairman of the Golden Avenue School Advisory Committee and is a member of the Lemon Grove School District Community Advisory Committee. He was treasurer of the Golden Ave. School PTA in 1970-71 and in 1971 he was co-chairman of Golden Avenue's Halloween Carnival.

His wife Marilyn is president of the Golden Avenue PTA. The couple has four children all of whom attend Golden Avenue school.

The family has lived in Lemon Grove since 1969 and are members of the United Methodist Church.

Drug Charges Meted In Arrest At Monte Vista High School

A La Mesa youth was arrested last week at Monte Vista High School on charges of possession of marijuana, possession of restricted dangerous drugs, possession of restricted dangerous drugs for sale, and loitering on the school grounds.

In custody was Dennis M. Jackson, 19, who was contacted shortly after 9 a.m. by school officials and detained for loitering.

Upon arrival of deputies, it was learned that the suspect had been arrested previously and was on probation with one of the conditions of his probation that he give up his rights regarding search.

He was then searched and deputies found 93 tablets later proving to be amphetamines, 18 tablets which turned out to be LSD, and one marijuana cigarette.
